

FRIENDS OF MYALL PARK BOTANIC GARDEN NEWSLETTER

Vol 26 No 3 Summer 2017

At the 2016 Annual General Meeting I found that I had a little spare time and so I asked Nita to introduce me to the systems within the magnificent seed storage room. Prior to that visit I had dared to look in the drawers containing the packets of seeds but they were not in alphabetical order so I left everything as it was until I could have it all explained. Nita did that for me and also showed me the folders of collected plant material that had been sent to the Herbarium and returned with correct names attached.

Another treasure that was shown to me was an old label making machine. I was given permission to take the machine home to Brisbane to see if it worked. With the machine was a folder containing old invoices and instructions. Most of the invoices dated back to 1998 or 1999 but lots of label blanks were purchased back then so I was confident that the machine was useable.

As luck would have it, when my husband saw it he commented that the Mens' Shed where he volunteers also has a very similar machine and the operator claimed that it was not too difficult to use.

It is a gravograph machine and when I started "googling" and phoning I soon found that there was an office not too far away. One thing led to another and soon I had tracked down a supplier of the signage material which is UV rated for exterior use,

Penny's Corner

Hello, we are enjoying some amazing Spring weather this year with November temperatures in the high 20's this week!

Certainly this is helping with moisture retention in The Garden and we have had some lovely rain to keep things flowering. Our caretaker, Scott, witnessed Mother Nature's full force last week when a powerful storm cell crossed paths with MPBG. Thankfully all buildings/people are safe, however we did sustain some damage to some plants. We are winding down to our period of closure in December, however first we have our AGM scheduled just a week before Christmas.

I would encourage anyone with an interest in Myall Park Botanic Garden to come along to the AGM and show your support for this wonderful asset. As always we are running on a very tight budget and perhaps others have some creative ways we could achieve our financial needs! Have a lovely Christmas period, until next year...

and she kindly sent me 4 labels, cut to the correct size to experiment with.

Within the folder, I found some very helpful instructions written by Lyn Reilly, and so I began, very tentatively. With help from my husband we figured out which knob controlled which piece and how everything worked. At one stage I encountered a problem but by emailing for advice, I was able to fix the problem and learn more about the machine at the same time. It really is a smart machine and I have been able to engrave the labels that were listed as needed at the last two working bees. I believe Lyn Reilly did many labels over the years to save money for The Garden, and I hope to do the same. Dorinda with her deft skills also made a cover for the machine some years ago.

Thanks to Nita, Dorinda and Lyn we will be able to continue engraving labels into the future.

To our dear Friends and Members,

We will be having our AGM on Sunday December 17th at the Gallery here at Myall Park Botanic Garden. Everyone is welcome to attend. It is your subscriptions which help enormously with keeping the Garden ticking along year by year.

If you have any ideas, suggestions, or general concerns we would love to hear from you.

These can be presented at our AGM, and general meeting for discussion.

Spring Day 2017 Working Bee

This year a small group of volunteers from Brisbane (Noel, Marie and Dorothy from the Oxley Creek Catchment Association in Brisbane, and Bob from Beechworth) joined Sue, Dale, and Peter at the gardens to help prepare for the Spring Day.

Unlike last year it was fine and dry and Sue and Penny had planned a variety of tasks to keep us busy under sunny skies and mild conditions. Once again we set up in the quarters, which is ideal for a group of likeminded volunteers. It's great for socialising but this year we only managed one night with the fire-place in action as the weather was unusually mild.

We set to work ably directed and assisted by Sue, Peter and Scott and were soon clearing tracks, installing a new benchtop in the Avochie kitchen, fixing the mower, fixing the dunny, washing down the buildings and a host of other tasks. We always find the working bee a labour of love and it's nice to stop occasionally and delight in the spring flowers and bird-life around the gardens.

An added bonus this year was the presence of Ross and Margie Easton, from Toowoomba who are keen bird watchers and could identify all the local species that kept us entertained. I was pleased to see a group of finches using the pond at the bird hide and it was a delight for my grandchildren to see the bird hide that their Daddy built being used by local birds.

With the variety of tasks on Sue's list we all could find a job that suited our skills and we soon whittled down the list. Sue kindly organised a BBQ for the volunteers and we were joined by Ken Phelps and his wife Genny, the new owners of Myall Park Station and Ben and Cassie Robinson who are managing the property. Another night we visited the Bottle Tree Inn for a nice dinner and a chance to enjoy the country hospitality at the "local".

The Spring Day was well attended and a highlight was the bush tucker fare prepared by the Directors and Fiends of Myall Park, and Priscilla Mundell from Condamine, a local bush foods expert. The food was delicious and novel and we were all impressed by the variety of bush foods that can be used to good effect.

We thoroughly enjoyed our stay and we look forward to repeating the exercise in 2018.

Vale David Hockings

It is with great regret that we mark the passing of David Hockings AM, who died at Maleny on 17th July this year, after a long battle with illness. David was 89 years old.

David was born on Thursday Island in the Torres Strait, where his early fascination with the natural world developed, but moved to South East Queensland when his parents took up a dairy farm in Springbrook. David joined the Department of Agriculture and Stock (later to become the Department of Primary Industry) in its horticultural section in 1960. As David told it, he was asked to take an interest in the development of the ornamental plant industry, thus earning the enmity of his colleagues in “proper” commercial agriculture, not least because it created a new source of competition for scarce funding!

David not only took an interest in ornamental plants, particularly natives, but also in the insects that depended on them. In the early days of television he was a presenter on one of the early ABC television gardening programs, often having to deal with issues of plant health. This abiding interest culminated in his book, first published in 1980, and revised in 2014, “Pests, Diseases and Beneficials”.

In 1985 David retired from DPI, intending to devote all of his time to the cut flower nursery that he and Olive had developed in Maleny.

Over time they developed markets for Australian native plants, both here and overseas, many of them new to horticulture, and often grown from specimens they collected in their numerous trips “into the bush”. David was honoured with the award of an AM in 2007 for his services to horticulture.

David was a founding member of SGAP, later NPQ, joining when the society commenced in Queensland in June 1957. He was always willing to share his prodigious knowledge of native plants, and keen to engage others in this fascinating work. He gave many years of unstinting service in a variety of official roles in the society, and he and Olive have both been recognised for their service with the award of Life Membership.

David and Olive have many friends in the plant world, and large numbers turned up in Caloundra last month to honour a life lived to the full, with humour, exuberance and passion.

David, we will miss you, and we offer our sincere condolences to Olive, Colin, Cecily and Lindy, and their families.

Ian McMaster. President NPQ

Thank you to Ian McMaster from NPQ for allowing us to reproduce the article he wrote for David, and to Kathy Julian, Journal editor for providing the information.

Produced and written for the September 2017 magazine.

Historical article by David Hockings, 1958

At the SGAP Meeting at the ABC Studios in Alice Street, Brisbane on 9 October 1958, David Hockings made the following report on his visit to David Gordon's 'Myall Park' property at Glenmorgan.

Visit to Myall Park (1958)

David Hockings reported that a visit to Myall Park had lasted four days during which they were faced with a bewildering amount of material.

The property is in open forest country and the vast plantings are beautifully landscaped and cover well over 60 acres.

At the time of the visit the plants were just recovering from drought and, except for Eucalyptus torquata, the eucalypts were not in flower. Calytrix longiflora and Hakea purpurea were perhaps the prettiest display in the gardens.

The system followed at Myall Park is to plant a range of species in the one plantation. It was surprising to find that cultivation with rotary hoe was done right up to the base of the trees. Although there were occasional losses this cultivation apparently did little damage. David could not say how often the cultivation was carried out, but it was suggested that frequent cultivation would serve to encourage deeper rooting and would form a dust mulch on the surface.

Mr Gordon has his own seed collectors and hence, pending identification, a lot of plants are labelled 'species'. The nursery at Myall Park is particularly well set up and at the time of the visit 1,500 plants were advanced to a stage ready for planting out. Tribute was paid to the excellent herbarium and to the fine work being done by Mrs Gordon in painting the Australian flora.

David reported that some coastal species were being grown and the Hymenosporum for instance was doing reasonably well. Coastal species seemed to be growing mainly in sheltered positions.

The property is about 1,500 feet above sea level and seems to be reasonably free from pests.

The soil in the gardens is a red sandy type on a ridge and probably has an average depth of approximately one foot. In some places the soil is being pushed up to give a greater depth to the beds.

Trees are set wide apart and some experimental work is being done with ground cover species. No fertilizer is being used, although some might be used in propagating.

Plants are watered when first planted out, but David had no information as to subsequent watering, if any. The water supply was from a dam which had recently been enlarged and Mr Gordon was hoping to be able to cultivate some swamp plants.

Thank you to Kathy Julian, Journal editor for providing the information. Produced and written for the September 2017 magazine.

Notes from The Treasurer

Notes: Council donation must be applied for each year, so far no news of any for this upcoming financial year. If not forthcoming, then ??? re future as we obviously need $50 000 + to keep operating at our current level each year.

Administration costs include - telephone; internet for office and caretaker; Vehicle registration; electricity; insurances on buildings, voluntary workers and directors; pest control for white ants etc; postage; auditing; rates; eftpos costs.....all of which we cannot really exist without. Auditing alone is about $2000 pa and only because we have a tax deductible Gift Fund.

Accommodation – obviously one of our main sources of income, little has been spent on it, but obviously too, money should be spent on maintenance and upgrades, as these buildings are not new.

Retail costs – included purchase of 300 cookery books this year, helped by substantial donation of $500 from Priscilla Mundell, – but not helped by the fact we were “scammed” for $850a long story..... involved sale of a lot of china to a Singapore address, seemed OK on searching the website of the business, so we proceeded after money for the china and freight went into our account, the $850 was freight MPBG to Singapore, and paid for by us but when a second order came in, lights started to flash, and I discovered “Scamwatch” on that business, so the second order not proceeded with..... It took almost 4 months before the money was retracted from our account! However, the fine china was never collected, we still had that!

Living Collection income included $2 440 from Dorothy Gordon Grevillea royalties. Expenses include water and plant repairs; fuel; tractor, ute and pump maintenance, and new plantings.

Spring Day - please note no income or expenditure included from August 2017 Spring Day, as monies were not banked until October – I was away most of Aug and until late Sept, and not until I went to do the books did I discover there had been no banking from Spring Day. It then came to light that the money was hidden away, awaiting banking! Interest above does not include that from term deposit.

Gift Fund – the only expenditure for the year was $5024 for signage, and monthly account fees by the bank. We appreciate all donations, no matter what size – they all add up.

Plans for 2017/18 Recently directors voted to purchase a second hand ute, as the current ute is requiring more and more expensive maintenance to maintain its road-worthiness. We need a ute for caretakers to travel to do MPBG Ltd business.

Another plan is to upgrade the accommodation standard of Room 5, the biggest room in The Quarters. Funding for this would have to come from grants, or donations.

Unfortunately, according to the constitution, any money donated to the Gift Fund can only be used for “core business”, ie the Living Collection itself, not for eg upgrading accommodation, although income from accommodation helps with keeping the Garden going.

We continue to apply for grants for a variety of things, but none have been forthcoming this last year. Grant applications are very time-consuming, so very disappointing when we miss out.

Decision to be made for the future – do we keep operating at current cost levels (which are as low as we can go) and deplete our reserves slowly, or spend all reserves on the above 2 plans in the immediate future, and hope something miraculous happens to keep the Garden running?

Betty Salter, Treasurer/Director.

NB. Just as the newsletter was going to print we have had word that Council is paying us $35,000 in an Operational Grant for the 2017 –2018 year. Many thanks to the Western Downs Regional Council for their continued support.
